Interior Design

The art and business of creating functional and aesthetic environments for living and working.

An interest in design and an attention to detail can develop into a professional career. The Interior Design degree programs at Berkeley College focus on the creative and business aspects of this exciting industry. Graduates are prepared with the technical skills and practical knowledge to enter the industry in a range of roles.

Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) and Associate's degree programs prepare students to pursue careers in creative positions, as residential or commercial interior designers, exhibit designers, design managers, merchandising/retail display directors, and more.

The Bachelor of Science in Interior Design Management is a more business-oriented program, which includes business and management courses as part of a comprehensive education.

Faculty members in this program are selected for both academic excellence and relevant professional experience in interior design. They combine firsthand knowledge and know-how with classroom instruction.

Benefit from:

- 1 A curriculum that focuses on exploring design fundamentals, theory, visual communication, history, and color
- 1 Hands-on experience with computer-aided design and other technology used in the design industry
- 1 Degree programs that incorporate business fundamentals, including accounting, marketing, and management
- 1 Valuable, practical experience through program-related, faculty-monitored internships or job-related assignments
- 1 A seamless transition between Associate's and Bachelor's degrees
