MESSAGE FROM DIANE RECINOS, EdD

Dear Graduates,

You dreamed of this. You worked tirelessly for this. You may have even questioned whether this day would ever happen. But you are here.

Congratulations graduates – you did it!

This year, Berkeley College is celebrating its 95th anniversary, but today we are celebrating YOU! The school that began in 1931 with 50 students now has more than 70,000 alumni around the world. Today you become part of that proud and enduring legacy, joining a distinguished global community of professionals who continue to make their mark in the career fields they have chosen.

As you go forward, remember that Berkeley College – your alma mater – remains a lifelong network of support, inspiration, and opportunity. Stay connected, count on one another, and keep us informed of your accomplishments. No matter where your journey leads, Berkeley College will always be part of your story – and you will always be part of ours.

At Berkeley College, we say that your potential is our promise. We have done everything possible to keep that promise so that your potential can be unlimited.

Go out and make us proud as you make your mark.

Diane Recinos, EdD

President of Berkeley College

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

David Chong has devoted nearly five decades to law enforcement, building a career defined by leadership, service, and mentorship.

Chong began his career with the New York City Police Department (NYPD), rising through the ranks over a distinguished 23-year tenure. He was serving as a Lieutenant in the Organized Crime Investigations Division during the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks and was at Ground Zero that day, helping rescue survivors amid the devastation. He later developed 9/11-related cancer as a result of his service.

After retiring from the NYPD, Chong continued his commitment to public safety in Westchester County, NY, as Deputy Commissioner of Public Safety in White Plains and Police Commissioner in Mount Vernon. He returned to White Plains as Public Safety Commissioner in 2010, where he led the department through major crises including Hurricane Sandy and the COVID-19 pandemic.

As an Asian American leader in a field where representation remains limited, Chong has served as an advocate for greater diversity in law enforcement. He has served as an adjunct professor at several colleges and universities, and has helped place more than 40 Berkeley College students and graduates in law enforcement careers.

FACULTY SPEAKER

With more than two decades of experience, Julia Hutchinson is an accomplished graphic designer, instructional designer, and educator. She joined Berkeley College as a professor in 2014 and has served as Chair of Graphic Design since 2023.

Hutchinson is known for blending traditional design principles with emerging technologies, advancing the College's design programs through curriculum enhancements that emphasize responsible, real-world application and meet evolving industry needs. Among her notable achievements is the creation of the Graphic Design Virtual Metaverse Gallery, an immersive platform that showcases student work across a range of media.

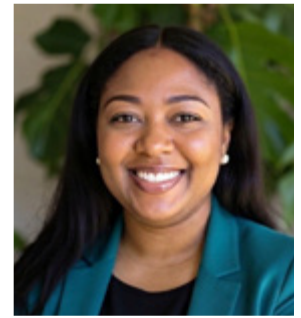

Hutchinson's passion for education was ignited early, influenced by her mother who was also a schoolteacher. Driven by an innate love for technology and creativity, she discovered her natural calling within the college classroom. She is also the founder of Joule Design Consulting, where she develops brand identity, motion graphics, and digital content for a diverse client base.

A New Jersey native and the daughter of Jamaican immigrants, Hutchinson values education, access, and opportunity. She holds a Bachelor of Arts in Creative Arts and Technology from Bloomfield College and a Master of Science in Education Media Design and Technology from Full Sail University, where she graduated as valedictorian.

ALUMNI OF THE YEAR AWARD RECIPIENT

Lachanee Scott, a proud Jamaican immigrant, describes herself as “first generation everything.” She began her journey at Berkeley College in 2015, where she was enrolled in the Honors Program, an active volunteer, and a Federal Work Study in the Academic Advisement Department. She graduated with an Associate’s degree in Justice Studies – Criminal Justice in 2016 and a Bachelor of Science in Legal Studies in 2018, where she received the Robert Maher Outstanding Student Award.

After graduation, Scott worked as a commercial real estate paralegal before earning her Juris Doctor from New York Law School in 2025. There, she earned a seat on the Dean’s Leadership Council after having performed in the top 25 percent of her division. She was also a student affiliate of the Center for Real Estate Studies, and held leadership roles with the Black Law Students’ Association and the Caribbean Law Students’ Association. Additionally, Scott gained hands-on experience as a Student Attorney in the Non-Profit and Small Business Clinic.

At the New York Law School Commencement, Scott was selected as Class Speaker. She received the Dean’s Award for First Generation Professional Excellence and Leadership and the D. George Levine Memorial Award.

She is an attorney focused on real estate finance in New York City. She was selected as a 2025 WX Scholar in the New York Women Executives in Real Estate Scholars Program and is a member of the Metropolitan Black Bar Association and the CRE Finance Counsel Young Professionals Network.

OUTSTANDING STUDENT AWARD RECIPIENT

Andre Krzyzanowski emigrated from Brazil with his family in 2012 in pursuit of greater educational and professional opportunities. He overcame the challenges of adapting to a new culture, learning English and Spanish simultaneously. At Berkeley College he pursued an accelerated Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing Communications degree and competed as a student-athlete on the Men’s Soccer team. An Honors Program scholar, he earned President’s and Dean’s List recognitions, athletic honors, and contributed to community service initiatives across New Jersey. After a season-ending injury in 2024, Krzyzanowski refocused on academics, leadership, and service, ultimately returning to the field in his final year as a team captain.

STUDENT SPEAKER

Ida Dale is driven by a passion for people, growth, and creating meaningful impact. Born in Norway, she holds a Bachelor’s degree in International Management from BI Norwegian Business School and broadened her global perspective through an exchange year at the University of Technology Sydney. At Berkeley College in New York City, she served as a Student Aide to the Campus Operating Officer and an international student ambassador, supporting campus operations and helping students from around the world transition to life in the United States. Deeply committed to advancing financial literacy and empowering women, Dale engaged in grassroots policy advocacy through the Stand with Crypto program in Washington, D.C., and developed knowledge in blockchain, decentralized finance, and Web3 as a SHEfi Scholar.

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND SYMBOLS

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia are a carryover from the medieval university to modern college life. The robes and colorful hoods resemble those worn by scholars and churchmen as early as the 12th century. Then, as now, the garments distinguished the wearer as a scholar, but they also had a practical element. The robes were warm, and the hoods could be drawn up to protect the scholar against drafts in unheated buildings.

The gown distinguishes the Associate's, Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctorate degrees, and, at the same time, recognizes the university that awarded the degree. The Associate's gown is plain with open sleeves and is worn closed. The Bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves and is also worn closed. The Master's gown has oblong sleeves cut away at the elbow, and the Doctorate degree gown has bell-shaped sleeves with velvet stripes. The hood's lining matches the color of the graduate's university, and the color of the border velvet indicates the area of study. Members of Berkeley's Board of Trustees wear Berkeley College's ceremonial regalia.

THE MACE

The mace, once a weapon of war, became a ceremonial standard in the 16th century. The walnut-fluted mace has the college crest on both sides. Carried by the faculty marshal in the academic procession, the mace is a symbol of authority.

The use of a mace during college graduation ceremonies combines symbolic communication with the principle of vested authority at the most traditional and sacred of academic celebrations. The mace adds meaning and dignity to the commencement ritual. It reminds both participants and spectators that education is one of the most cherished attributes of a free and democratic society.

BERKELEY COLLEGE TASSEL

The tassel, which can be seen hanging from the mortarboard of a graduate's cap bound together by a metal clip, is a traditional aspect of commencement regalia. This item is significant because it serves as a symbol of academic accomplishment and rank. During most ceremonies, a student's tassel will be displayed on the right side of their cap prior to receiving their diploma. The tassel is later moved to the left side of their cap to signify that one has graduated.

CORDS, STOLES, AND MEDALLIONS

Cords, stoles, and medallions are worn around the necks of graduates, signifying academic honors or other achievements. Cords are made of braided nylon in a variety of colors. Stoles are panels of silk that can be embroidered with letters or symbols. Medallions are made of metal or glass-like material and hang on colored ribbon.

BERKELEY COLLEGE

Students have entered Berkeley College with aspirations of career success since 1931. And while the years go by, one thing remains the same — Berkeley College's unyielding commitment to ensure that all students who enter its doors are afforded opportunities to reach their goals.

From the initial class of 50 students to the current combined student body of more than 4,000, growth continues at Berkeley College. Today, Berkeley College is convenient and accessible at campuses in New York and New Jersey. Additionally, Berkeley College Online® continues to expand as a popular alternative to the traditional classroom learning environment.

Throughout all of the changes — the addition of more students, technologies, and programs — Berkeley College has maintained its primary focus on students, providing personal attention and instruction with the goal of preparing students for career success.
