MESSAGE FROM DIANE RECINOS, ED.D.

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations to the Class of 2022!

I have been working with students in my different roles at Berkeley College for 30 years, but this is my first time presiding over the commencement festivities as your president.

It is an honor to bear witness to this milestone in your lives and to confer Master's, Bachelor's and Associate's degrees and certificates to the more than 1,800 graduates of the Class of 2022.

Today, you join the ranks of 65,000 Berkeley College alumni from around the globe. This is your time to claim your place and make your mark in the world.

There are many motivating factors that go into a person's desire to earn a college degree. A number of our graduates tell us they pursued a Berkeley College education because they wanted to improve their lives and make their families and loved ones proud. They are seeking to move up the career ladder, or to continue their education in pursuit of advanced degrees and other credentials. They want to give back to their communities.

It is my hope that you will live by the Golden Rule, "Treat others how you would like to be treated." Giving to others and service to our communities is part of our 91-year tradition at Berkeley College. Remember all the hands that helped lift you up when you needed a boost. Be the helping hand for someone else who needs it, too.

Dreams do not come easy. But you already know that, for you have persevered through a pandemic, in addition to dealing with the unforeseen circumstances and everyday responsibilities of your lives.

Earning a college degree takes a lot of work and personal sacrifice. Hold on to this moment when you hit a bump in the road or you need to take an alternate route. There is an entire Berkeley College community pulling for you.

Whatever road you choose and direction you take, from this moment forward you are a Berkeley College graduate. As you set your compass to the future, let your dreams be your inspiration and your Berkeley College education be your guidepost.

We celebrate your resilience and your brilliance. We celebrate you!

Sincerely,

Diane Recinos

President of Berkeley College

FACULTY SPEAKER

Dr. Heidi Hoefinger is a Social Sciences Professor at Berkeley College and the Faculty Advisor for the Gender and Sexuality Alliance. She received her Ph.D. in Social Sciences and Media from Goldsmiths, University of London in 2010 and has been teaching at Berkeley College since 2013. In 2016, she won both the Faculty of the Year Award for Outstanding Scholarship and the Honors Program Faculty Excellence Award. Her academic expertise is in gender, sexuality, race, migration, trafficking, LGBT+ issues, substance use, public health, and community organizing. She teaches all her courses from an intersectional, social justice perspective. She is the author of the book Sex Love and Money in Cambodia (Routledge 2013), and several peer-reviewed academic journal articles and book chapters. She has also appeared in the Huffington Post, BBC, Voice of America, Global Post, Cambodia Daily, Phnom Penh Post, Southeast Asia Globe Magazine, Time Out London, London Metro, and Asia Life Magazine.

ALUMNI OF THE YEAR AWARD RECIPIENT

In February 2022, when the New York Daily News named Jonathan Santiago a hometown hero for his COVID-19 relief efforts, none of us were surprised; Jonathan has been a hero at Berkeley College for some time now. A 2005 Graduate of the Woodland Park campus with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration – Management, Jonathan has been inspiring others with his leadership and advocacy since his days as a student. As the first in his family to attend college, Jonathan knows the importance of higher education and how a degree can change someone’s life. Jonathan states, “I see myself being successful in the future by guiding and coaching high school students that come from a similar social and economic background as I did and helping them to be aware of excellent postsecondary institutions.”

Jonathan credits Berkeley College with giving him a successful start to his career. “Berkeley College prepared me with a five-star education, which laid the foundation in helping me become an organized and efficient leader.” But Jonathan also practices what he preaches, and in addition to a bachelor’s degree from Berkeley College, he holds graduate degrees from Fairleigh Dickinson University and Seton Hall University, and is currently enrolled in a doctoral program at Syracuse University.

If that is not inspiring enough, Jonathan was the youngest individual to be named an Executive Board Member of the New York State Association of Incarcerated Educational Programs (NYSIAIEP). Through the NYSIAIEP, he mentors incarcerated youth, helping them establish pathways to success through education or employment after they serve their sentence.

Always passionate about assisting students in creating an impactful journey, Jonathan began his career as a teacher and administrator in the Newark, NJ, Public School System. Jonathan joined the New York City Department of Education (NYCDOE) in 2011 and rose through the ranks to his current position of Executive Director of Transition and College Access Centers. He was awarded the 30 under 30 Award for Educational Executive Leadership by the Office of the Mayor of the City of New York under the Bloomberg administration in 2013.

Whether it’s leading an effort during the COVID-19 pandemic to hand-deliver checks to thousands of students with disabilities or inspiring his staff of educational partners in the Transition and College Access Centers (TCAC), Jonathan provides community resources that broaden college and postsecondary opportunities for students across the five boroughs. Jonathan Santiago is an inspiration to us all. We wish him heartfelt congratulations and continued success.

OUTSTANDING STUDENT AWARD RECIPIENT

Gabrielle Peralta was born and raised in St. Louis Missouri to Marty and Renee Zehr. She says that as the third youngest of seven children, her childhood definitely had its ups and downs. She is proud to be from a military family: one of her grandfathers served in WWII, another grandfather served in Vietnam, two of her brothers are in the U.S. Army and a third brother is in the U.S. Air Force. Gabrielle continued the family tradition and joined the United States Marine Corps immediately after graduating from high school in 2012. She served as a Warehouse Clerk for three years and in October of 2015, she was medically discharged from the Marines due to a knee injury.

Gabrielle chose to attend Berkeley College in the fall of 2017 and became the first person in her family to obtain a college degree when she earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in Management in the fall of 2020 and graduated with honors. While pursuing her undergraduate degree, she was inducted into the National Society of Leadership and Success Honor Society as well as the Veterans National Honor Society. She was awarded the New Jersey Rising Star Award by the New Jersey Business and Industry Association in 2020, was President of the Spartans Student Veterans' Club, President of the Student Government Association, President of the Berkeley College chapter of the National Society of Leadership and Success, and a Student Orientation Leader. Gabrielle continued her studies at Berkeley College with her MBA, which she completed in April 2022. She achieved all of this while processing a lifetime of accumulated trauma. Gabrielle is a shining example of someone who not only survived but who figured out how to thrive.

An avid baker, she plans to use the knowledge she has gained to open her own bakery with a bakery truck and to hire veterans to help them transition back to civilian life, as she did while pursuing her undergraduate and graduate degrees.

STUDENT SPEAKER

Nallely Inoa is a talented aspiring Graphic Designer and an April 2022 graduate earning a Bachelor of Fine Art's Degree in Graphic Design. During the course of her studies at Berkeley College, Nallely was an Honors Scholar, a part-time tutor at the Center for Academic Success, and an intern for Student Development and Campus Life.

In addition to her focus on her academics, she was also involved in building community as a member of the Volunteer Leadership Team, the United Nations club, and the National Society of Leadership and Success Honor Society. Additionally, Nallely earned amazing opportunities through her campus involvement such as being featured on billboards and having her designs featured in campus social media posts and campus event marketing campaigns. When asked about her Berkeley College experiences, the following particularly resonated for Nallely: being able to go to the UN HQ in New York; having the chance to speak to local legislators and their staff, and; speaking about current social injustices freely by presenting a thesis paper to her honors classmates on the topic of Educational Disparity across the US.

With her career path in Graphic Design ready to launch, Nallely has big goals and even bigger dreams for her future: to become a Creative Director at a company. But first, Commencement. She is proud to share this day with her fellow Berkeley College graduates and hopes that each of you will fully appreciate your own value, how far you've come, and the obstacles you've had to face and overcome in this journey. And most importantly, she wants each graduate to remember that "you did it!"

ACADEMIC REGALIA AND SYMBOLS

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia are a carryover from the medieval university to modern college life. The robes and colorful hoods resemble those worn by scholars and churchmen as early as the 12th century. Then, as now, the garments distinguished the wearer as a scholar, but they also had a practical element. The robes were warm, and the hoods could be drawn up to protect the scholar against drafts in unheated buildings.

The gown distinguishes the Associate's, Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctorate degrees, and, at the same time, recognizes the university that awarded the degree. The Associate's gown is plain with open sleeves and is worn closed. The Bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves and is also worn closed. The Master's gown has oblong sleeves cut away at the elbow, and the Doctorate degree gown has bell-shaped sleeves with velvet stripes. The hood's lining matches the color of the graduate's university, and the color of the border velvet indicates the special area of study (tan—Business; white—Arts and Letters; purple—Law; lemon—Library; green—Medicine; light blue—Education; blue—Philosophy; gold—Science; and citron—Social Work). Members of Berkeley's Board of Trustees wear Berkeley College's ceremonial regalia.

THE MACE

The mace, once a weapon of war, became a ceremonial standard in the 16th century. The walnut-fluted mace has the college crest on both sides. Carried by the faculty marshal in the academic procession, the mace is a symbol of authority.

The use of a mace during college graduation ceremonies combines symbolic communication with the principle of vested authority at the most traditional and sacred of academic celebrations. The mace adds meaning and dignity to the commencement ritual. It reminds both participants and spectators that education is one of the most cherished attributes of a free and democratic society.

BERKELEY COLLEGE TASSEL

The tassel, which can be seen hanging from the mortarboard of a graduate's cap bound together by a metal clip, is a traditional aspect of commencement regalia. This item is significant because it serves as a symbol of academic accomplishment and rank. During most ceremonies, a student's tassel will be displayed on the right side of their cap prior to receiving their diploma. The tassel is later moved to the left side of their cap to signify that one has graduated.

CORDS, STOLES, AND MEDALLIONS

Cords, stoles, and medallions are worn around the necks of graduates, signifying academic honors or other achievements. Cords are made of braided nylon in a variety of colors. Stoles are panels of silk that can be embroidered with letters or symbols. Medallions are made of metal or glass-like material and hang on colored ribbon.

BERKELEY COLLEGE

Students have entered Berkeley with aspirations of career success since 1931. And while the years go by, one thing remains the same — Berkeley College's unyielding commitment to ensure that all students who enter its doors are afforded opportunities to reach their goals.

From the initial class of 50 students to the current combined student body of more than 4,000, growth continues at Berkeley College. Today, Berkeley College is convenient and accessible at campuses in New York and New Jersey. Additionally, Berkeley College Online® continues to expand as a popular alternative to the traditional classroom learning environment.

Throughout all of the changes — the addition of more students, technologies, and programs — Berkeley has maintained its primary focus on students, providing personal attention and instruction with the goal of preparing students for career success.
