

The Berkeley College Graduation Incentive Program

The Graduation Incentive Program is designed to help students in Associate's and Bachelor's degree programs balance their course loads with other responsibilities. For every four courses completed, eligible students may take an additional course at no charge in their final semester. This may allow full-time students to:

- Complete an Associate's degree program in five semesters while only paying tuition and fees for four semesters; or
- Complete a Bachelor's degree program in ten semesters while only paying tuition and fees for eight semesters

Part-time students may receive this award; however, it will take additional time for such students to earn the complimentary courses.

The Graduation Incentive Program is open to:

High school, adult, and international students entering winter 2020 semester and forward.

Eligibility Requirements:

- Students must submit a Graduation Incentive Program Application or the Graduation Incentive Program Application for Veteran and Military Students to their campus Financial Aid Office
- Full-time or part-time enrollment in an Associate's degree or Bachelor's degree program
- Successful completion of four (4) courses for every one (1) complimentary course. Completion means that a student has earned a passing grade in the course
- Student must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress
- Students must maintain continuous enrollment. Students who have attended for at least two consecutive semesters may take one semester off without losing eligibility
