7. The methods used by Berkeley-NJ and Berkeley-NY to determine which students receive emergency financial aid grants and how much they would receive under HEERF I and II

Based on guidance provided by the Department the time. We made changes to policy as new guidance was provide, all of which is documented on our website (see below). Students potentially eligible for an emergency financial aid grant were identified and sent a link to an electronic application. The application requires students to certify that they incurred expenses equal to or greater than the amount of emergency financial aid grant requested and that such expenses were related to the disruption of campus operations due to coronavirus (including eligible expenses under a student’s cost of attendance, such as food, housing, course materials, technology, healthcare, and child care). For HEERF I, a maximum grant amount of $1,245 per student was established based in part on the maximum amount of Personnel Expenses of the Cost of Attendance for the Winter 2020 term. The application deadline was June 26, 2020. A second application phase commenced shortly thereafter to include students enrolled in the Spring 2020 term based on the June 30, 2020 guidance from the Department, updated on August 6, 2020. A maximum grant amount of $800 per student was established for the second phase based on the amount of funds remaining. The application deadline for the second phase of HEERF I was August 14, 2020.

For HEERF II we followed a similar philosophy as HEERF I, however, this time we prioritized zero EFC students. Our last priority, as per guidance, is undocumented students. As of this date we are determining how much funds we can offer that population. For HEERF II the maximum award was $1400 and the deadline was June 30, 2021. At this time we know, based on our remaining HEERF II funding, that the maximum for undocumented students will be far less than $1,400.
