Housing options in New York City

The NYC area offers a variety of housing options that vary in cost. Rates for the short-term and long-term options listed below start around $1,500 per person per month depending on the room and/or length of stay. Please be very careful renting apartments through the Internet and sending money in advance of arrival. Unless you are working with a formal housing agency listed below or a real estate agent who has been recommended to you, it is very risky.
