- College officials handle emergency situations in a fair and responsible manner.
- Berkeley College does enough to protect the safety of students.
- There is a good support system at Berkeley College for students going through difficult times.

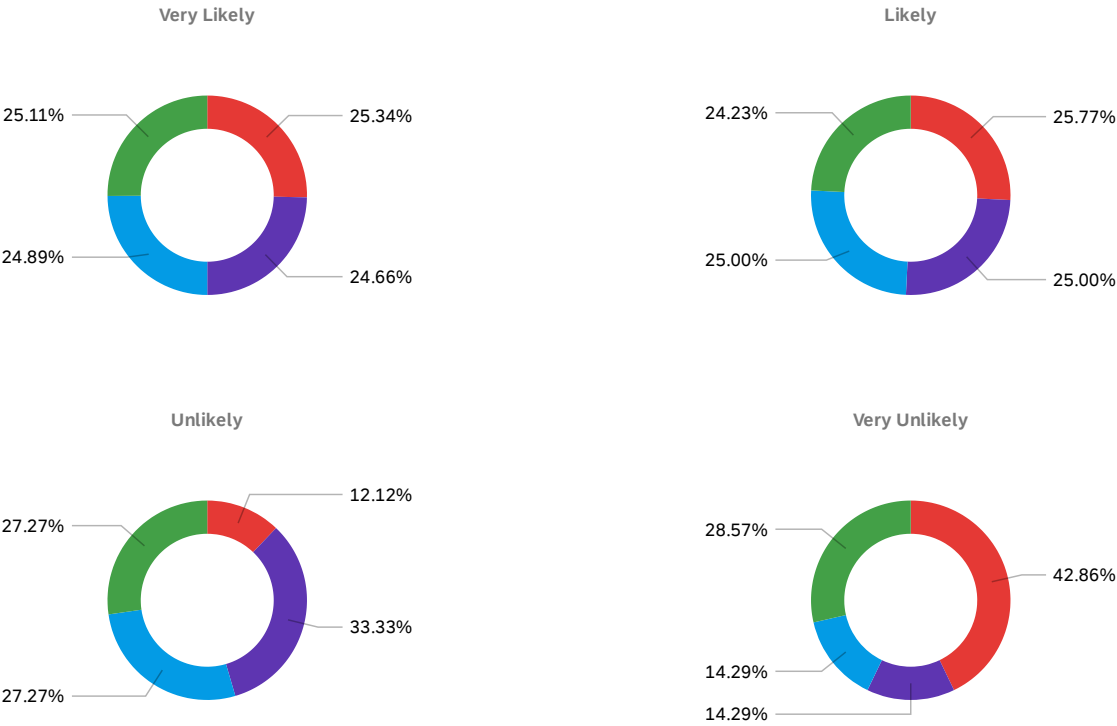

Q5 - The following statements describe how the College might handle a report of an incident of sexual assault. "Sexual Assault" refers to a range of behaviours that are unwanted by the recipient and can include use of force or threats of force to get someone to engage in a sexual behaviour, as well as unwanted touching and unwanted oral, vaginal, or anal penetration or attempted penetration. These behaviours could be initiated by someone known or unknown to the recipient, including someone they are in a relationship with. Use the scale provided to indicate how likely each scenario is:

#	Field	Very Likely		Likely		Unlikely		Very Unlikely		Total
1	The College would maintain the privacy (only share the information with those with a need to know) of the person making the report.	60.00%	111	36.22%	67	2.16%	4	1.62%	3	185
2	The College would take steps to protect the safety of the person making the report.	58.38%	108	35.14%	65	5.95%	11	0.54%	1	185
3	The College would protect the safety of the people involved while the investigation is pending.	59.24%	109	35.33%	65	4.89%	9	0.54%	1	184

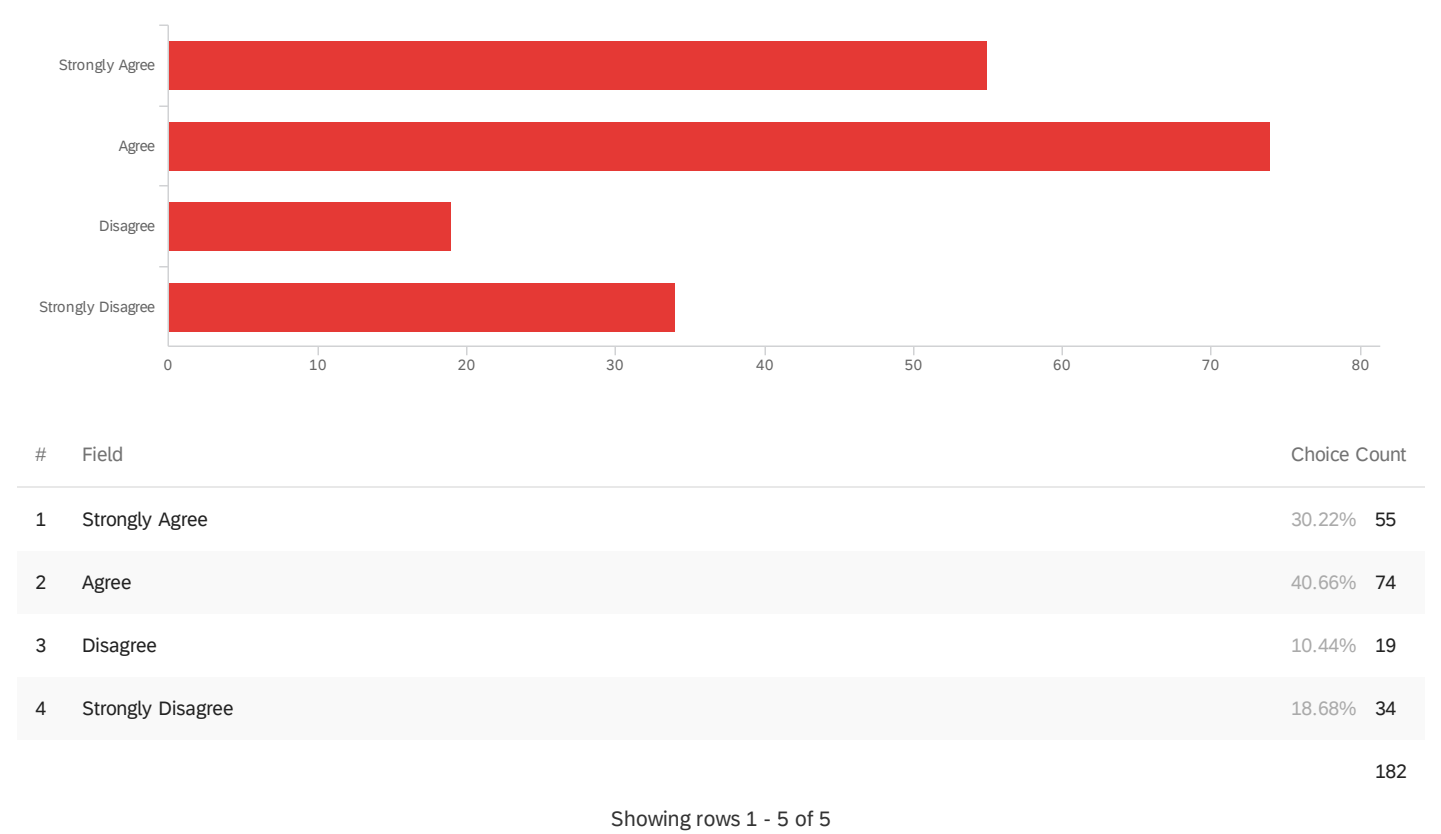

#	Field	Very Likely		Likely		Unlikely		Very Unlikely		Total
4	The College would take action to address factors that may have led to the sexual assault.	59.78%	110	34.24%	63	4.89%	9	1.09%	2	184

Since it is hard to gain students attention, it should be put randomly in the classroom for at least half an hour.

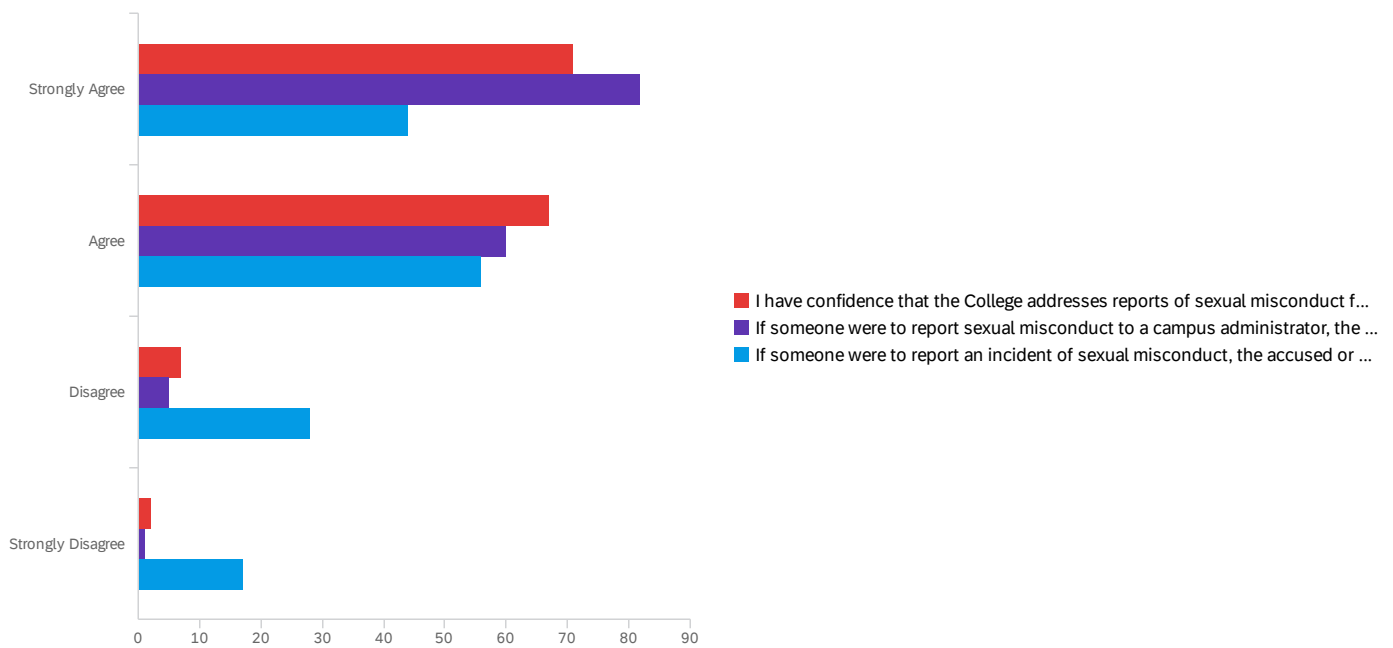

Have speakers go to classes and talk about it during the semester

These presentations and workshops should be mandatory. There are a lot of students who do not take sexual violence seriously, will make jokes about it and have very dangerous misconceptions towards the issue.

Q21 - Consent to a sexual act requires a clear, affirmative, current, and mutual agreement to take or permit such action. Affirmative consent is a knowing, voluntary, and mutual decision among all participants to engage in sexual activity. Consent can be given by words or actions, as long as those words or actions create clear permission regarding willingness to engage in the sexual activity. Silence or lack of resistance, in and of itself, does not demonstrate consent. The definition of consent does not vary based upon an individual's sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. Although consent need not be verbal, verbal communication is often the most reliable means of ensuring consent to sexual activity. Consent to any one or prior sexual act does not constitute consent to any other or future sexual act. Consent to sexual activity may be withdrawn at any time, in which case the activity must cease immediately. Consent cannot be obtained by physical force, threats, or intimidation. Consent is required regardless of whether the person initiating the act is under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol.

Consent cannot be given when a person is incapacitated, which occurs when an individual lacks the ability to knowingly choose to participate in sexual activity. Incapacitation may be caused by a lack of consciousness or being asleep, being involuntarily restrained, or can exist if an individual's ability to make decisions is otherwise compromised. Depending on the degree of intoxication, someone who is under the influence of alcohol, drugs, or other intoxicants may be incapacitated and therefore unable to consent. Consent cannot be given by a person who is under the legal age of consent. In addition, consent cannot be given by an individual with a mental, intellectual, physical or other disability that renders them incapable of giving consent. Please use the following scale to indicate how aware you were of the definition of affirmative consent prior to reading it (above):

Q32 - Intimate partner violence, which is also referred to as dating violence, domestic violence and relationship violence, includes any act of violence or threatened violence against an individual by a person who is, or has been, involved in a sexual, dating, domestic or other intimate relationship with that individual. Intimate partner violence can encompass a broad range of behavior, including but not limited to physical violence, sexual violence, emotional violence, and economic abuse. It may take the form of threats, assault, property damage, and violence or threat of violence to one's self, one's sexual or romantic partner, or to the family members or friends of the sexual or romantic partner. The offending act need not be sexual in nature to be considered "intimate partner violence" if it occurs within or in connection with a past or present sexual or romantic relationship. Have you experienced intimate partner/dating violence since March 6, 2019?
